WHERE THE FEVER RAGES.

JACKSONVILLE'S PEOPLE STILL PLUNGED IN PESTILENTIAL GLOOM.

There Are Fewer New Cases Because the Scourge Has Less Material to Grow Upon-Heroic Remedies Adopted to the Colored People-Cubans Have a Propate Cure of Their Own.

ISPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD. JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 28 .- The figures seem to show a slight abatement of the yel-low fever in this city, but when it is reflected that there are not more than seven to eight thousand persons remaining here and that 2.450 of them have already been down with the malady, the decrease in the number of ew cases and deaths from day to day will seen to be only in proportion to the de-ease in the number of possible victims. Three out of four of the new cases are lored, and more than that proportion of eaths are among the colored population. This is because the colored people are ignorat and fail to follow the directions of the ant and fail to follow the directions of the physicians, eating imprudently and not taking proper care of themselves. Then, too, the colored people have a theory of their own as to how to fight the disease. They dose themselves at the first appearance of the disease, taking enough castor oil and quinine to use up a white person and then sweat themselves by wrapping in heavy blankets and lying by a hot fire. This plan is frequently successful, however.

The Cubans and Italians, who have had much experience with the disease, have a uch experience with the disease, have a cret remedy of their own, and look with ntempt on the system of the physicians

Mr. King-Hall, THE WORLD special corre Mr. King. Hall. THE WORLD special corre-spondent, passed a good night, and is doing nicely. He has never for an instant lost his grasp on life and interest in what was going on about him. The greatest hindrance to his speedy recovery will be his uneasiness and desire to be up and about his work again. It probably looks singular to Northerners that the authorities here should be so auxious to keep out people from other points. A guard of 200 armed men now surrounds the oity.

t Gainesville there is not a new case, and he old ones are about recovered.

Fernandina is still in a turmoil. All her physicians but one declare that there is no fellow fever there. There have been 800 cases of sickness and twenty deaths, and Dr. Palmer insists that many of these were yellow fever cases.

Cedar Keys has established a cordon about her limits, and nobody is admitted, though any one may go out of the city.

McClenny is still in a bad way, four new cases being reported since my last report.

Relief in money still flows into this city.

31,445 having been received yesterday and 28,000 up to this writing to-day.

If the present cool and clear weather prevails for a day or two longer the death rate will be decreased materially. ill be decreased materially.

Very successful were the various performances tendered yesterday and last evening for the benefit of the fund. Distinguished parties attended the matinees at Wal Clack's and the Casino. The "Nadiy" formance netted over $1,000, and the lack's and the Casino. The "Nadiy" per-formance netted over $1,000, and the pro-ceeds at Wallack's were estimated at $2,100.

Gov. Guy Came with an Armed Force. [SPECIAL TO THE WORLD.]

DOUGHERTY, Tex., Sept. 28. -Gov. Guy marched into Tishomingo to the Chickssaw Capitol yesterday with an armed force and took his seat about ? o'clock. Gov. Guy was legally elected Governor, but was counted out by the Byrd party and Byrd took his seat. The Legislature had not adjourned, but expected to on Friday. The administration had been calling on the Guy officers for the possession of all moneys, receipts, &c., but was quietly put off antil Guy was ready to take possession again. Mr. Byrd was duffounded when he recognized Gov. Guy at the head of his men marching to the Capitol. There was no trouble, but it is expected at any time. Government troops will be held in Feddiness to march to the Capitol at a moment's holice if serious trouble arises.

Murdered at Oxford Furnace.

BELVIDERE, Sept. 28.—Michael Baltinshire was rdered at Oxford Farnace Wednesday. He was shot twice, his head was crushed in and he was robbed of $80. The shots were heard by the crew of a freight train and they ran in the direction from which the sound came and found the man breath-ing his last.

A man who was seen waking from the scene of the murder was watched, and when he arrived at l'hillipsburg was arrested and locked up to await an investigation. He gave his name as Frederick Nichols, and said he halled from Chicago. He also said that he had not been at Oxford, but had walked from Washington, N. J., to Manunka Chunk last night to take the early train for Philsdelphia. He claims to be able to prove his innocence. A large butcher knife was found is his possession.

There Must Have Been Collusion. WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—The investigation into the charges of fraud in the construction of the Washington aqueduct daily brings to light new eviences of fraud and bad workmanship. It is conidered impossible that the bad work could have sidered impossible that the bad work could have been done without collusion between the contractors and the Government inspectors. Lieut. Townsend, who is conducting the investigation, said to-day: "No utterances regarding the miserable quality of the work, so far as it has been investigated, can be called exaggerations. I have no language in which to express my opinion of it and of the men who have proved false to the trust imposed in them." It is probable that Congress will order an official inquiry.

The Electoral Law Deficient. Bosron, Sept. 28.—The Department of State of Massachusetts has written to Senator Hoar, calling attention to a discrepancy in the Electoral College law. The United States statutes provide that the messengers from the electoral colleges in the messengers from the electoral colleges in the various States shall deliver their copies of the votes of their colleges to the President of the Scaate before the first Wednesday in January. The colleges have met heretofore on the first Monday in December, but a law passed by Congress in 1857 changed the time of meeting to the second Monday in January, while the provision regarding the delivery of the vote was left unaltered. The question will have to be settled by the authorities at Washington.

SOME MAY GO TO UTAH.

Collector Magene to Reconsider the Cases

The cases of two of the Mormon immi-rrant families, those of Nicholas Egli and Herminie Leuwen, were this morning referred back to Collector Magone by the Commissioners of Emigration, Supt. Jackson sending the affidavits to the Collector, who may revoke his order for their return. Both may revoke his order for their return. Both Egli and Leuwen have railroad tickets for Utah, and have made oath that they have money and will not be a public charge.

Under such circumstances it is not thought likely the Collector will cause their return to jurope, as it would be a violation of the law of do so and would render him or his bondsacn personally liable. The Government itself cannot be sued.

SOCIALISTS CAPTURED THE MEETING.

German Republican Rally at Elizabeti Ends in a Riot.

PRPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD. ELIZABETH, Sept. 20 .- All the town is talkng to-day of a riot which occurred at the German Republican meeting in Turn Hall last night. One of the speakers invited questions or the tariff, but so many were put that he lost his temper and asked to have the questioners his temper and assed to have the questing and put c ?t.

The Socialists captured the meeting and raised such a turmoil that the police had to be called in. They were, however, afraid to tackle the rioters, and the meeting broke up in great confusion.

BOOKKEEPER CAUNCE MISSING.

A Prominent Paterson Business Man Lost in New York.

Police Headquarters was notified to-day by the Paterson police that James Caunce, head bookkeeper of the Dolphin Manufacturing Company, of that city, is missing. He left the mill on Monday morning, saying that he was going to New York to meet Supt. John Cheyne, expected from Europe on that day. He did not meet Mr. Cheyne and has not since been heard of.

The firm deny the rumors of a defalcation and say Caunce's books are perfectly straight. Mr. Caunce is forty years of age and much respected in Paterson.

JANSSEN REPLIES TO HUGHES.

He Explains the Union's Attitude Towards the Irish Athletic Team.

The remarks of Secretary Hughes, of the Manhaitan Athletic Club, agent the treatment of the Irish team of athletes by the Amateur Athletic Union moved the officers of the latter organization to wrath yesterday and it was claimed that Mr. Hughes had been guilty of several misstatements. One in particular was pointed out as a sample, that being the claim of Mr. Hughes that Yale, Harward, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Union and all other college clubs are members of the N. A. A. A. A. This the officers of the Amateur Union deny.

Mr. Ruhi, the Secretary of the Union, said:
"While the clubs name; are members of the Intercollegiate Association and the latter is a member of the N. A. A. A. the individual clubs named by Mr. Hughes are not and cannot be considered members of the National Association."
Yesterday F. W. Janssen wrote The World a letter in which he states:

Yesterday F. W. Jamson wrote Ins would a letter in which he slates:

In your issue of to-day you state that Mr. Hughes, of the Manhattan A. C., desires to know what right the three gentleman representing the A. A. Mr. Janssen then goes on to explain that the Seventh Regiment Athletic Club does not recognize the "so-called "N.A.A.A. rules, and that the Olympic, States Island, American and Nassau Athletic clubs, mentioned in the N.A.A.A.A. List, have resigned. The letter concludes as follows:

lows:

As Chairman of the sthictic department and representative to the A. A. U. of the Staten Island Athletic Club, I beg to state in conclusion that the S. I. A. C. does not acknowledge the existence of the so-called National Association of Amateur Athletics of America.

The rooms of the Gaelic Society, at No. 17 West Twenty-eighth street, were thronged last night, when an informal reception was tendered to the Irish athletic team. The reception lasted until midnight, when the members of the team were driven to the Park Avenue Hotel, where they are quartered.

Murder Caused by Politics.

[SPECIAL TO THE WORLD.]
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 28. — Near Bedford, Ind., early Monday morning, James McPike, aged forty-eight, met William M. Martin, aged sixty, and beat him so badly that he died Tuesday. Some time ago a Republican club was organized in Barilettaville, the village nearest the neighborhood where the two lived on adjoining farms, and Martin, who was a Democrat, was prevailed upon to attend the meeting. He had no trousers, and was told if he would come down they would buy was told if he would come down they would buy him a pair. The trousers were sent to him and he was then urged to join the club. "No, boys," said he, "I am a Democrat and will vote for Cleveland and Taurman." When the Hendricks Club was organized Martin became an active member. Mc-like, who was a Republican, met him one day and hit him on the side of the head, besting him so badly that he could barely crawl home. Tuesday morning an affidavit was sworn out by McPike's triends charging Martin win assant and battery. The constable got Martin on his horse and took him to the Squire's office, two miles away, where he teetified as above. He was left to walk home. Upon Martin's death McPike fied, and a posse is hunting him.

LA GRANGE BROWN'S BOAST.

IS IT TRUE TRAT BROOKLYN SOCIETY GIRLS POSED FOR HIM?

Sensation Looms Up in the Photograph Seandal Case-Gen. Catlin Believes that the Indecent Pictures Were Taken from Life-The Fashionable Young Amateu in Judge Massey's Court To-Day.

La Grange Brown, the expert amateur dectrician, microscopist, physician and surgeon, and savant in nude feminine loveliness, who was captured in a Brooklyn saloon with a hundred or more portraits of young women, taken in the garb of Eve before the fall, and in various compromising attitudes, appeared in Judge Massey's Police Court, Brooklyn, this morning.

His trial for having in his possession obcene pictures and for offering them for sale had been set down for to-day, and he came into court with his counsel, Gen. Catlin, a young man and his bondsman, John Wiley, of 85 Hicks street, Brooklyn Heights. When arrested Brown was in a state of colthe famous Mr. Dolls in "Our Mutual Friend." But to-day quite another person was he. The whiskey was out of him and he was left a pleasant, though not strong-faced young man of twenty-eight years, clad lapse from drink and shivered as pitifully as young man of twenty-eight years, clad in a perfect-fitting dark suit, a shiny silk hat with a weed, and immaculate linen. One could readily understand how fascinating this young man might be to the susceptible female heart.

He is the same young Mr. Brown whose wronged young wife was granted an absolute divorce by Judge Potter a year ago, on the most damaging and unspeakable evidence.

The agents of the Society for the Suppression of Vice were there with the evidence against Brown, but Judge Massey was out of town, and Gen. Cathin agreed with them to try the case next Thursday.

Brown has boasted, it is said, that he has taken lewd pictures of several of the daughters of Brooklyn's most respected families, and since his arrest several anxious fathers, paid attorneys and other interested parties have called on the agent of the Society with portraits of their daughters or the daughters of their clients for comparison with Brown's collection of 259 negatives.

And it was found that the faces in some of Brown's pictures were very like some of

And it was found that the faces in some of Brown's pictures were very like some of those in these portraits, but it is believed that Brown has produced the pictures by photographing the nude figures of members of the demi-monde here and in other cities; has obtained copies of the portraits of innocent and respectable girls, detached the heads and faces and attached them to these nude bodies, after which he has copied them into new photographs.

If this is the case the work has been very skilfully done, for the place of jointure is not discernible, and the heads are poised naturally.

An expert might do this, as was shown in Dr. Griffith's suit against a London artist for girculating indecent pictures of Mary Anderson. The doctor could not prove that they had been produced in this way and therefore had been produced in this way and therefore lost his suit.

Gen. Catlin insists that Brown's pictures were not produced in this way, and wants to prove it. If the question is raised by per-mission of the Court there will be a sensation.

FOSTER'S FORGERIES.

$25,000 More to Be Added to the $168,000 Found Yesterday.

His Alleged Niece Said to Be Not

An Order of Afrest and an Attachmen

Every effort on the part of the Trustees of the Gratuity Fund of the Produce Exchange was made to suppress the fact that the fund victimized for a large amount by means of fraudulent and forged mortgages.

THE EVENING WOBLD, however, which gets and publishes all the news, had ferreted out this carefully concealed fact, and when it appeared on the street shortly after 2 P. M. yesterday. announcing for the first time this stupendous swindle, the Produce Exchange officials removed the ban of secrecy from their lips and posted the facts in the case on the floor of the Exchange.

To-day's developments in the case are very interesting. Another mortgage, representing a loan of $25,000, has been found to be a forgery. This increases the loss to the fund through the dishonesty of its counsel to $193,000. The trustees think this amount well repre sents the maximum of their loss.

An attachment has been issued against the orger's property. An order of arrest is also out for him.

WHAT POSTER'S NEPHEW SAYS. William R. Foster, sr., the father of the William R. Foster, sr., the father of the Produce Exchange Gratuity Fund's missing counsel, is a wealthy dealer in flour and a member of the Produce Exchange.

His place of business is located in the large double building No. 25 Canal street. Here he occupies the entire four stories of the building and does a most extensive trade. He is a man of about sixty-five years of age. When The Evening World reporter called there to-day he was informed that Mr. Foster was not in.

was not in.

When he made known the object of his visit to the bookkeeper that gentleman promptly stated that Mr. Wm. R. Foster, jr.,

was his uncle.
"Do you know where your uncle is?"
asked the reporter.
"He was at this office last Saturday, and since then I have not seen him," was the an-"Will was one of those fellows who had a great deal of leisure to himself," the young man went on, "and some one who attended to his business when he was away must be the guilty party. He had plenty of money, a good income and I know he would not do sach a thing."

"He never attended much to office business, but left that entirely to his partner, Mr. Wentworth."

Mr. Wentworth.' THE FORGER'S FATHER.

While the reporter was conversing Wm. R. Foster, sr., entered.

The father had a far-away look in his eyes as though he were in deep thought. He bowed to the reporter, and when the latter asked him if it were true that he would make good the amount of his son's defalcation if it were proven that he was a defaulter, he smiled sadly and answered.

"The Trustees have not yet asked me to do so. I was at the Exchange yesterday and nothing was said about it."

"If they do ask you will you pay?"

"I am in no way interested, only in that he is my son." R. Foster, sr., entered.

DID HE LOSE IT IN STOCES? "He had a good income and everything that he could desire. If he took the money he must have lost it in stocks," was the answer.

"Did he speculate in stocks?"

"I don't know. I never knew much about his business matters."

"He called here frequently?"

"Yes, but we never talked over any of his business transactions. I have nothing more to say. It is an unfortunate affair." With this the old man turned away, and, bidding the reporter "good day," sat down at his desk to write. THEY CAN'T ACCOUNT FOR IT.

THEY CAN'T ACCOUNT FOR IT.

The young man who had announced himself as the nephew of the absconding lawyer, said that he knew very little about his habits, excepting that he hved modestly and quietly at his Bayport home.

He knew of no vice which his uncle possessed which would be such a drain upon his income as to cuse him to commit a crime of such magnitude as these forgeries to gratify it.

MISS LULU POSTER IS NOT THE PORGER'S NIECE. Questioned with reference to the girl Lulu Foster, who lived with the lawyer at his home in Bayport, and who is described as Mr. Foster's niece and adopted daughter, the nephew was quite reticent, but by dint of persistent cross-questioning he was made to acknowledge that the girl is not in any way related to Foster.

She is now about eighteen years old, he said, and was adopted by Wm. R. Foster, jr., about five years ago.

about five years ago.

He did not know who her relatives were or where she would be liable to stop while in the city. Though he visited his uncle at his home quite frequently, he says that he saw yery little of Lulu, there are very few spots of solid ground on this globe where Foster can feel absolutely safe from the pursuit of the sleuth hounds of the law.

VERY LIKE BEDELL'S FORGERIES.

So similar in their character and execution were the forgeries charged sgainst Foster to those which James E. Bedeil acknowledges, that it was immediately asked: "Which was the tutor and which the pupil?"

Of course, these two men must be acquainted and cognizant of each other's misdeeds.

The Evening World was unable to ascertain if this is a fact.

Judge Shipman, one of Bedell's employers, scouted the idea.

BEDELL WON'T BE INTERVIEWED. Bedell himself was sought at his cell in the

He could not resort to that old dedge of tell the gentleman I'm out" to rid himself of the reporter and to the polite request to interview him on the subject of the Gratuity Fund forgeries, he returned a very decided "No."

Warden Osborne explained that Mr. Bedell Warden Osborne explained that Mr. Bedell out. He has been supplied with the daily papers and knew of the revelations involving Mr. Foster in forgeries similar to those committed by himself. He is reported as having made no comment on the story, however PINKERTONS WONT TALK. Supt. Bangs, of Pinkerton's Detective Agency, refused to say anything regarding the pursuit of Foster. but volunteered the information that he would be only too glad to announce his capture.

JAMES P. FOSTER DOESN'T KNOW WHO MISS An EVENING WORLD reporter called at the office of James P. Foster, a brother of the defaulting counsel of the Produce Exchange Gratuity Fund, this morning. Mr. Foster is a lawyer and practices at No. 154 Nassau street. There the reporter was informed that he was not in, but could be found at the headquarters of the Republican League of the United States, of which he is the President.

Here Mr. Foster was found in his private office. LULU POSTER IS EITHER.

Who is the young lady residing in your brother's house at Bayport?" was asked.
"The papers say she is his adopted daughter," was the answer.
"Is she his adopted daughter?" queried the reporter.

"I don't know. The papers say so."
"Is she his niece?" was the next question.
"I don't know."
"Did you ever meet her?" he was next asked.

"Yes." was the answer.
"Has your brother made over to her his Bayport property valued at $100,000?"
"I don't know." "Do you know what has become of her?"
"I do not."

GOT HIS FIRST INFORMATION FROM "THE EVENING WORLD." "Is it a fact that your brother raised $9,000 on your father's securities?"
"I don't know. I know nothing whatever of the matter. The first I knew that he had disappeared was when I read an account of the trouble in The Evenino World last evening."

NOT WELL KNOWN IN THE PAST RESORTS. Foster was not known in any of the baunts of men about town in Police Capt. Reilly's tenderloin precinct. About three times a week he vasited the University Club, at Madison avenue and Twenty-sixth street, of which he was a member. He generally called in the day time and never remained long. He was admitted to membership in the Club about three years ago.

WHAT'S UP AT THE UNION CLUB? At the Union Club, corner of Twenty-first street and Fifth avenue, of which he was also a member, the clerk told an Evening Wonld reporter this morning that he had received strict orders not to speak about Mr. Foster or his affairs.

"Who gave you such orders?" asked the reporter.

That I am not at liberty to tell either," That I am not at liberty to tell either."
was the answer.
From another source it was learned that Foster had joined the Clubsome time in 1831.
At first he was a frequent visitor, but gradually fell away, and recently jonly went to the Club at rare intervals.

HIS ROOMS AT THE CUMBERLAND

When Foster's mother died, about eight years ago, the remaining members of the family decided to separate, and they gave up their Madison avenue residence. Will Foster went to live in a suit of rooms with a Col. Varnum, on the fifth floor of the Cumberland bachelor apartment-house, corner of Broadway and Twenty-second street.

Reuben Howe is superintendent of the house. He said to the reporter to-day.

"1 find it pays to know as little as possible about the tenants in the house, and, therefore, I can give you very little information about Mr. Foster. He came here in 1881, I think, I could not say what rent he paid. All expenses was shared by Col. Varnum. I went away from here in 1882 and did not return until 1896. Then I found that Mr. Foster had left while I was away. This is absolutely all I can tell you about him," concluded Mr. Howe.

After leaving the apartment-house Mr. Foster went to keep house in Bayport, L. I. Ward Detectives Brett and Hayes and Hoffman House Detective Jacobs, when inter viewed by the reporter this morning, declared that they did not think that Foster ever was a "rounder" in that precinct any how.

THEY CALLED IT SUICIDE.

The Coroner's Jury Renders a Verdict is the Case of Cashler Dodge. The jury of eight men presided over by Coroner Hughes, after hearing all the testimony regarding the death of Cashier Charles M. Dodge, of the law firm of Shipman, Bar-

M. Dodge, of the law firm of Shipman, Barlow, Lerocque & Choste, who was found in his bed suffocated by gas Tuesday morning, retired at 7.30 last night.

They wrangled over the case until midnight, but were unable to agree.

Then Coroner Hughes locked them up for the night. This morning at 2 o'clock they announced their verdict. They found that "the deceased came to his death by inhaling gas turned on by his own hand with suicida intent." Very Young for Till-Tapping Frederick Junco, a thirteen-year-old school-boy, aneaked into the butcher shop of Fred Fricke, 125 West Twenty-fourth street, got behind the counter, took a key from the desk and was opening the money drawer, in which there was 550, when he was seen by Joseph Boylan, who held him until the butcher got a pol-ceman. In Jefferson Market Police Court to-day the boy was held in 5500 ball for trial.

BLAINE TALKS

Interviewed About the Result in the Pine Tree State.

Sure Harrison Will Carry New York, New Jersey and Connecticut.

The Plumed Knight Will Arrive Here at 7 O'Clock To-Night.

ISPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD. Bosron, Sept. 28. - The hope of the Repubican party-James G. Blaine-was found at Young's Hotel by an Eventno Worker man this morning. It is needless to say that Mr. Blaine is looking well, for he appears to be n the best of bealth.

"Don't ask me to talk fer an interview," aid the pride of his party to the reporter, as he extended his hand. "I haven't time. Besides when I have anything to say I can tell it in my speeches and you can get it at once.'

"But THE EVENING WORLD Wants to know your opinion of the Mains election, Mr. Blaine. Is it as big a Republican victory as you expected ?" "Yes" (rather feebly), "It is good enough. It showed we were on the right side and were not deceived by the talk of the opposition."

"But was it large enough to affect the country?"

"But was it large enough to affect the country?"

"That depends upon the feelings and preferences of the men who interpret the result. It was large enough to satisfy me that the Mills bill was not indorsed by the voters of Maine. In fact the Democrats of Maine have never made a fight to win but twice since the war. The first was 1880, when they whipped us. The socond was this year. I think the people of the country know how Maine has gone in 1888. I am satisfied."

"Do you think there is any danger of Harrison's defeat?"

"I can see none. New York is a large manufacturing State and will assuredly vote for Protection. The same can be said of Connecticut and New Jersey. The closest State of the North will be Indians, but I think Gen. Harrison's personal popularity and the interests of the working people will give us a good majority there. My opinion is that Harrison and Morton will carry every Northern State, also California, Oregon and Novada. They will get a large majority of the electoral vote, if I am not greatly mistaken."

"How many speeches will you make this fall, Mr. Blaine?"

"I shall talk as much as my voice will permit. I have not spoken for so long that I fall. Mr. Blaine?"

"I shall talk as much as my voice will permit. I have not spoken for so long that I find an hour's speech in a big hall very trying to my larynx. Still, I am taking good care of myself, and hope to sustain the strength of my voice until the end of the campaign."

"And your general health, Mr. Blaine?"

"Splendid. I eat heartily, sleep well and cannot complain of a strength."

"And your general health, Mr. Blaine?"
"Splendid. I eat heartily, sleep well and cannot complain of a single ill. I feel that I am blessed with an excellent constitutional which I am taking every pains to preserve. I had rather have good health than anything else in the world."

Walker Blaine, polite and geutlemanly; "Joe" Manley, always genial and always leaded with good stories, are with Mr. Blaine at Young's. Of course all the Ecomblican at Young's. Of course all the Republican magnates honored him with their cards, and all considered a smile and a grasp of his hand better than a benediction. Mr. Blaine leaves for New York on the 1

. M. Shore line express. THE MAN FROM MAINE.

He Is on His Way Here, So Hurrah for To-Morrow Night's Big Meeting. James G. Blaine left Boston via the Shore

Line at 1 o'clock this afternoon, and is due in this city at 7 o'clock this evening. The Republicans have made great preparations for the Plumed Knight's reception and the mass-meeting at the Polo Grounds to-the mass-meeting at the Polo Grounds tomorrow evening. Rooms have been engaged for Mr. Blaine and his son Walker, and while Mr. Blaine, Gov. Foraker, Major McKinley and the other distinguished Republican speakers are in town they will be the guests of the Harlem Republican Club, a committee from which body will see that they are well cared for.

There will not be any demonstration on Mr. Blaine's arrival, the Harlem Club knowing that the Maine statesman does not like that sort of thing as a rule. He will therefore go quietly to his hotel along with the Committee and rest until to-morrow.

fore go quietly to his hotel along with the Committee and rest until to-morrow.
Chauncey M. Depew, having accepted an invitation to speak at Pawling, will not be present at the meeting as expected.
Among the speakers who will be present at the Polo Grounds to-morrow night besides the man from Maine will be Congressman William E. Mason, of Chicago, Gov. Forsker, Gen. Woodford, James P. Foster, W. O. Flummer, John F. Finerty, Gen. A. E. King, Congressman Butterworth and A. L. Morrison.

SHE HAS LEFT RAYPORT TOO.

This young lady left Beyport on a west-bound train yesterday afternoon at 2P. M. on the accident on the Eclus yesterday. A carboy and has not been seen since.

If she has followed Mr. Foster in his flight Pinkerton's men will find it an easy matter to track him.
